What would you say to Vladimir Putin?

Marxist education familiar to Russians begins from its claim of historic inevitability, so I’d say:

What does the future hold? NATO will not last forever. NATO evaporates as its enemy evaporates. NATO’s enemy evaporates when Russia joins the European Union. What are the rules for joining the European Union?

1. Being a Christian nation helps.
2. Having a strong economy helps.
3. Having many citizens working and living outside the country of their birth, that helps.

Russia nearly qualifies to join the EU. But Russia's Duma fails. It fails to debate political issues and resolve them through argumentation and voting. The failing Duma keeps Russia out of the EU which keeps NATO alive.

Should a new Czar appear, Russia needs a strong constitution demanding every soldier, “Kill the Czar.”
